Why attend?

A unique learning experience enabling excellence to be achieved in all areas of social care. The shows will provide a unique networking opportunity linking in with local commissioners, local care associations and local service users and are set to be a significant date for the calendar in these regions.

The conference programme

This conference programme includes separate targeted seminars geared towards business owners, key decision makers, supervisory and frontline staff.

Who should attend?

These shows are all inclusive events for everyone in the sector. FREE delegate passes are available for anyone in social care from frontline to owner managers.

Confirmed speakers include representatives from:

Key presentations include:

Excellence in care provision, End of life care, The future of social care, Challenges for the sector, Specialist dementia sessions, Training and development

"I have learnt so much and gained lots of information. The networking opportunities at the Great British Care Show are fantastic. Other similar shows I have attended did not have half the amount of information I wanted to know!"
Janice Drain, Director of compliance and training, Nurse plus

"People don't want to travel too far so having the Great British Care Shows across the country is a great idea. With so many things to learn and opportunities to network we knew this day would be of value to us and it was".
Nicola Rowland, Manager, Ultimate Care UK
